PREFACE

This Second Edition of the AMERICAN ARCHITECTS DIRECTORY, first published six years ago to fill a long felt need for an authoritative and reasonably comprehensive reference volume on living American architects, represents an increase of about forty per cent in listings and over fifty per cent in biographical sketches. In addition it offers several new features which enhance its usefulness to members of the architectural profession as well as its reference value to organizations and institutions needing such information, government officials, librarians and the general public.

Briefly, the new features of the Second Edition of the Directory are (1) in print for the first time "Officers and Conventions, The American Institute of Architects," from its founding in 1857; (2) Architectural Firm Listings, identifying all single principal and multi-principal firms listed together in the Biographical Index by a symbol and giving the names of partners or principals of multi-principal firms with addresses cross-indexed in the Geographical Index; (3) a two-line format providing complete information at the beginning of each biography concerning the architect's relationships with The Institute in the first line, and in the second, the name of his firm and business address; (4) a footnote at the bottom of each page of the Biographical Index providing a key to General Types of Work Executed listed by numbers in all biographical sketches and (5) a Necrology of A.I.A. member biographees from the first edition. An additional feature is the roster of members of The Producers' Council, Inc., affiliate of The Institute, in the Appendix.

Omitted from this 1962 Edition are (a) the section on Chapters of The Institute listing Chapter Officers, which information is published in Committee Structure and National and Chapter Officers of The American Institute of Architects in Parts I and II and distributed twice annually to all corporate members; (b) the section on Miscellaneous Awards listing the annual awards of The Producers' Council and The A.I.A. in Building Products Literature Competitions, of special interest to manufacturers of building materials and equipment; (c) Publications and Documents from The A.I.A. catalogs including the latest revisions of contract documents and legal forms being available on request from Headquarters in Washington, D.C.; and (d) the Selected List of Journals on Architecture, a list subject to constant change and extension as new publications record the progress of architecture throughout the world.

Scope

Published under the sponsorship and with the cooperation of The American Institute of Architects, every effort has been made to include and accurately list every corporate member. With the approval of The Institute, requests for the omission of names of a few members have been respected. Other architects, established in practice and of good repute from whom biographical details have been obtained, are included together with those non-member biographees of the 1956 edition who have returned revised entries to the publishers. Biographies which have been up-dated by the editor for lack of new information and two-line entries for A.I.A. members who have not replied to requests for biographical data either for the first or this edition, are marked by an asterisk. Two-line entries, without an asterisk, have been included for those new members of The Institute who have joined too late to obtain biographical entries. Since inclusion in the Directory is one of the privileges of A.I.A. membership, biographies of some former members are regretfully missing as are those of non-members who have not replied to our request for information. Requests for questionnaires by non-members have been honored and their biographies included when their eligibility has been established.

Architectural Firm Listings are integrated with biographical sketches in the Biographical Index. Single principal firms are identified by the Firm Symbol (†) before the name of the firm on the second line of the biographical sketch of the principal. Multi-principal firms are listed separately with dagger to provide for listings of partners and principals.

Following recommendations of the Executive Committee of the Board of Directors of The Institute, names of architectural firms must include the name of an architect to be eligible for listing. With few exceptions, in which the architectural character of the firm's work is unquestioned in the judgment of the editor, this rule has been strictly followed. Further, descriptive material usually following the names of firms such as "Architect," "Architects and Planners," "Architects & Engineers," etc., has been omitted from all firm names, the legal title being included under the heading "Present Firm." Where partners or principals in a firm are other than architects, professions of such other principals are identified by the abbreviated symbol of the profession such as "C. E." (if a civil engineer). Since this volume is devoted to architects, no symbols such as RA or letters indicating membership in any professional society are used for architects or architect-engineers. Multi-principal firms, with descriptive connotations such as "Architects and Engineers," are listed when it is evident to the editor that the principal work of the firm is architectural whatever the professions of partners or principals; such firms with names followed by connotations indicating that the principal work of the firm is engineering, even though the firm may be acting as "Architects and Engineers" on important architectural projects, have been deemed ineligible for inclusion under "Architectural Firm Listings."

Criteria

Since the substantial increase in the number of biographees, together with the inclusion of architectural firm listings, would naturally result in a corresponding increase in the size and cost of the volume, it was decided to limit biographical data in this edition of necessity to those categories believed to be pertinent to the practice of most architects. Therefore, while emphasizing the professional content of biographies, it has been deemed expedient to omit such items as marriages, number of children, pre-professional educational institutions unless such education has been considered an integral part of professional training; foreign countries visited and memberships in fraternal, political, religious, social and professional organizations. Unless included under the category of Principal Works, listings of the services of the Supervising and Consulting Architect have been omitted. Listings under Honor Awards have been generally limited (applying to a small number of biographees) to those awards received since the publication of the 1956 edition of the Directory. In biographies affected by this ruling, reference is made to such previous listings. A complete list of First Honor Awards and Awards of Merit of the AIA Honor Awards for Current Work program, from its establishment in 1949 through 1962, appears in the front matter of this book. The recording of AIA activities covers official positions held in chapter, state and regional organizations of The Institute and to memberships and chairmanships of Institute committees, regional directorships and Officers of The Institute.

On the first line of biographies, full names of members are followed by the symbol "AIA" and the year of joining indicated by the last two decimals of the year, i.e., "56"; if a Fellow also, "FAIA" and the year of advancement. Emeritus or Life Member status is indicated by "E" and "Life Mem." respectively. The name of the Chapter with which the architect is officially affiliated completes the first line. The second line starts with the Firm Symbol(†) when the biographee is the principal of a single principal firm. Its absence indicates that the architect is not a principal or that he is a partner or legal principal of a multi-principal firm, the name of which is the first item in this line and which will be found, with the dagger, alphabetically listed. Multi-principal firm listings start with the Firm Name, followed by address or addresses and the names of partners or legal principals.

Items of information follow the same order in all biographies: place and date of birth, education above secondary school level with scholastic honors won and scholarships or fellowships awarded by the institutions attended; positions held as an employee, and previous partnerships or positions held as a principal; the name of the present firm in which the biographee is either a principal or employee and, if not an architectural firm, the occupation and position held in such organization. Then follows a list of states in which the architect is presently registered to practice, and National Council of Architectural Registration Board certificate (NCARB) if so registered. A series of numbers, cross-indexed to keys at the bottom of each page and, in more detail, at the beginning of the Biographical Index, indicate types of work previously executed; then, examples of the architect's principal works completed through 1961; honorary degrees or honors awarded by the AIA or its Chapters, architectural publications, magazines and various civic or governmental organizations including competition awards since the publication of the 1956 edition of the Directory. Then follow: educational activities and positions held in professional schools of architecture or other institutions, as administrators, or teachers on various academic levels from instructor to professor or as occasional lecturer; past and present service on public commissions or committees; past military or civilian service in federal, state, city or foreign governments; books published as author, co-author, editor, contributor, illustrator or translator; honorary memberships in domestic or foreign academies or societies; and finally, A.I.A. activities as a Chapter or State Association officer, memberships and chairmanships of Institute Committees, Regional Directorships and offices held in The Institute.

Under the category of Principal Works, ethical as well as legal aspects of such listings have dictated strict adherence to the rule in this edition that the Architect of Record, only, be granted this privilege and limited, therefore, to The Architect of a single practitioner firm or to partners or legal principals of multi-principal firms. Architects employed by local, state, or federal government, or by institutions, in which they have been completely responsible for the design and supervision of construction of buildings or projects in their departments, have been eligible to list such projects as the "Architect of Record."

Principal works and correlated general types of work previously executed while in independent practice, though presently employed and ineligible for a firm listing, are included in the biographies of such architects when the years of such independent practice have been indicated in questionnaires.

Conclusion

Every effort has been made by the publishers and editor to assure the accuracy and completeness of this volume. Of the total of approximately 11,200 full biographies, some 9,400 architects have submitted new questionnaires or revised previous entries have been up-dated by the editor. About 4,000 AIA members, who did not submit biographical data for either the first or second editions, have two-line entries, identified by an asterisk, in order that the roster of AIA members will be sufficiently complete to serve as a membership list. Newly elected members, of whom there are some 200 from whom biographies could not be obtained in time for publication, also have two-line entries, without an asterisk bringing the grand total to approximately 15,400 architects. Newly elected Fellows of The Institute, class of 1962, whose induction will occur about the time this edition is released, are included in the roll of The College of Fellows in the front matter of this volume.

In spite of our efforts to obtain complete data on architectural firms which number some 6,500, the names of some principals are missing. The accuracy and completeness of such listings as well as of biographical data are the responsibility of the principals concerned and of biographees. The publisher has used its best effort to include material submitted but has no legal responsibility for accidental omissions or errors. The editor has endeavored to include all material eligible under criteria established for this edition as presented on questionnaires, and to avoid errors in the up-dating of previous entries. He has used his best judgment in decisions concerning the inclusion of multi-principal firms when the services rendered include both those of the architect and engineer. For inadvertent errors he asks the understanding indulgence of biographees and of the profession.

Acknowledgements

To the Officers and members of The Board of Directors of The American Institute of Architects and especially to J. Roy Carroll, Jr., as former Regional Director and presently Secretary of The Institute, the publishers and editor acknowledge their interest in this volume as evidenced by actions taken leading to the publication of this edition. To the Headquarters Staff including former Executive Director, Edmund R. Purves; former Director of the Department of Education and Registration, Walter A. Taylor, and the Institute Librarian, George E. Pettengill, for their constructive criticism and advice, our very sincere thanks. Within the immediate period of the publication of this edition: to William H. Scheick, Executive Director, and J. Winfield Rankin, Director of Administration; to Polly Shackleton, formerly Editor of MEMO and Head of the Department of Professional Affairs; to Florence H. Gervais, head of the Membership Department and to Connie M. Filos, supervisor of the Accounting Department; to the Editor of MEMO, N. Carl Barefoot, and to the Historian of The Institute, Henry H. Saylor; and to others on the Octagon Staff who have in any way contributed towards the accuracy, completeness and usefulness of this volume, the Bowker Company and the editor are thankful for their cooperation.

The editor is extremely grateful to Daniel Melcher, vice-president of the R. R. Bowker Company for his continued interest, making possible this second edition in cooperation with The American Institute of Architects; to Anne J. Richter, book editor of the Bowker Company, and her staff members, Harriet S. Coles and Elisabeth Bourguinon, with whom it has been a privilege and pleasure to work in the editing of this book.

To Emerson Greenaway, Director of the Free Public Library of Philadelphia, for the splendid cooperation of the librarians on his Main Library staff in supplying needed information during the editing of this volume; to Saundra Hybels, graduate student in the Annenberg School of Communications of the University of Pennsylvania for her invaluable assistance in the editing of questionnaires; to Naomi M. Phillips and others who have up-dated the rolls of Honorary Members, Honorary Fellows and The College of Fellows and compiled the Necrology for this edition; and to my wife, Adelaide, for her constant attention to matters pertaining to the welfare of the editor and his co-workers; to each one individually, the editor expresses his profound thanks.

To members of the Institute and its Chapters, who have aided in the selection or approval of non-member architects for inclusion or who by constructive suggestions have contributed to the usefulness of this volume, the publishers and editor acknowledge their indebtedness and offer this evidence of their gratitude.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTS

'The national organization of architects in the United States is The American Institute of Architects. Through the national body, its chapters, and its state and regional organizations, the A.I.A. gives every qualified architect an opportunity to collaborate with his fellows for the good of the profession and society. Any competent registered architect (or recognized architectural teacher), who is a citizen of the United States and who will subscribe to and follow the Standards of Professional Practice, is eligible.

'The objects of The Institute are "to organize and unite in fellowship the architects of the United States of America; to combine their efforts so as to promote the aesthetic, scientific, and practical efficiency of the profession; to advance the science and art of planning and building by advancing the standards of architectural education, training, and practice; to coordinate the building industry and the profession of architecture to insure the advancement of the living standards of our people through their improved environment; and to make the profession of ever-increasing service to society".'

NOTES

Note A. After a series of scheduled meetings of which the only note in the Minutes Book is "No quorum," the Civil War brought about a lapse in Institute activities which was ended by the meeting of Mar. 5, 1864.

From 1857 until 1867 a Board of Trustees (five in number, later seven) was the supreme authority, electing Institute officers annually. In 1867 the Convention became the ruling authority, electing officers thenceforth.

Note B. For the years 1860 through 1863 there is no record of an election to the vice presidencies.

Note C. From the early years the Institute Trustees elected a Librarian as well as a Secretary, though Richard M. Hunt held both offices from Feb. 1857 until Jan. 1861. The post was held thereafter by Charles D. Gambrill, Jan. 1, 1861-Jan. 1, 1868; A. J. Bloor, '68-'71; and by Joseph Ireland, '71-'72, when the office of Librarian was discontinued and the duties transferred to a new Committee on Library.

In addition to the "Recording Secretary" or Secretary, it was customary to elect a Secretary for Foreign Correspondence. H. H. Richardson, Wm. B. Ware, Henry A. Sims and Henry Van Brunt served in this capacity from June, 1866 through 1876, after which it seemed that the Secretary himself could shoulder the foreign correspondence.

Note D. On Feb. 10, 1867 an amendment to the Bylaws provided that each president of an Institute chapter should be, ex officio, a vice president of the Institute. In the years in which this was in effect the following men thus qualified as presidents of their respective chapters:

Rich'd M. Hunt, N. Y.	E. T. Littell, N. Y.
Jno. McArthur, Phila.	J. M. Windrim, Phila.
W. W. Boyington, Chicago	Aug. Bauer, Chicago
Jas. K. Wilson, Cincin.	Jno. Murdoch, Balto.

Note E. After much preliminary discussion the two chief architectural societies of the period—Western Society of Architects and the A. I. A. merged at Cincinnati under a new constitution combining the best features of both old ones, and the Institute's older name.

Beginning with the Convention of Nov. 1889 a 1st vice president and a 2nd vice president were elected each year, their terms of office, like that of the president, beginning Jan. 1st.

Note F. Severe retrenchment in the activities of the Institute were necessary in 1932 and 1933. The Board meetings were reduced in frequency and the 1933 Convention was omitted. Regional directors whose terms expired were replaced by their respective regions. Officers continued to serve until their successors could be elected. Even the 1934 Convention felt the pressure of the Depression in reduction of size and representation.

Note G. In the combining of Constitution and By-laws, June, 1930, the office of 2nd vice president was abolished "after the incumbent elected in 1935 shall have completed his term."

Note H. The 76th Convention had been scheduled for Indianapolis, May 3-5, 1944. To comply with legal requirements and the War effort the meeting was called to order on May 3rd in that city. Seven members of the Board, qualified as delegates, were present—no quorum. The meeting was adjourned subject to the call of the President. The Board, however, held its Organization Meeting and the directors whose terms expired submitted their resignations. These were not accepted, and the Board continued the incumbents in office until their successors should qualify; committee chairmen and members were also continued in office.

For 1945 a reduced Convention was held Apr. 24 and 25 in Atlantic City. The delegates were limited to 50, appointed by the chapters on a basis of one to an approximate 160 corporate members.

The 1944 Annual Meeting would have been the 76th Convention. No convention having been consummated in 1944, the number 76 properly applied to the 1945 Convention. However, in error the 1945 Convention was called No. 77 and the error was unobserved through following conventions. It seems too late to attempt a renumbering.

BIOGRAPHICAL INDEX

ABBREVIATIONS

Abbreviations adopted for this Second Edition have been studied to the end that titles and text may be easily followed by the reader.

ABBREVIATIONS AND TITLES OF SECTIONS pertaining to biographies are listed in the order they appear in entries.

AIA '21	Corporate Member of The American Institute of Architects and year of election.
FAIA '61	Fellow of The Institute and year of advancement.
E(meritus)	Emeritus status of Corporate Member
Life Mem.	Life Member of The Institute
b.	Place of birth, usually followed by date of birth
Educ.	Professional or technical, institutions attended, degrees earned and years in which conferred. Scholastic Honors, Scholarships and Fellowships are listed in sequence without section titles. Up to four Positions Held are listed with the title of position, Name of Employer and Years Employed in chronological order.
Prev. Firms	Names of firms in which previously associated as a partner or legal principal.
Present Firm	Official name of firm of which architect is the principal, a partner, an associate or member of an association. When preceded by the symbol (†) it is the Architectural Firm Listing of a single principal firm. The symbol precedes the name of multi-principal firms.
Pres. Occup.	Present occupation, position held and name of organization when not practicing as a legal principal.
Reg.	Registered (followed by States, abbreviated, in which registered.)
NCARB Cert.	Holder of Certificate of the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards, either Senior or Junior Certificate, entitling the holder to apply for licensing in any State of the United States.
Lic. Eng.	Licensed, also, as a Professional, Civil, Mechanical or (other) Engineer. (State or States of such registration not generally given.)
Gen. Types:	General Types of Work Executed as the "Architect of Record" by the architects or his firm, listed by numbers from 1 to 20 indexed to Table of General Types and summarized at bottom of each page in the Biographical Index for ready reference.
Prin. Wks.	A list of up to six buildings or projects executed as the "Architect of Record" representing his selection of his best work as Architect, Partner or legal Principal, or as Architect Associated on the basis of joint legal responsibility. (Note special abbreviation policy in this section: name of city is not repeated but initial used after first reference; and when a partnership or firm is responsible for a work, the individual responsibility of Architect is assumed rather than indicated at the end of each listing.)
Hon. Degrees	Degrees conferred by an Institution for distinguished achievement in Architecture with years in which conferred.
Hon. Awards	Titles of awards, by whom awarded, years in which awarded and names of projects.
Educ. Act.	Educational activities of Architect as principal occupation or incidental to practice, including Administrative, Instruction, Occasional lecturing and others, with names of institutions served.
Pub. Serv.	Public Service on Planning or Zoning Commissions, Boards of Adjustment, Committees or Groups serving the public interest.
Gov. Serv.	Governmental Service including Federal, State of local military or civilian service with dates or years of service, titles and honors.
Bks. Pub.	Books Published with titles, year of publication and number of years of subsequent editions of which the Architect has been either author, co-author, contributor, editor or translator.

Hon. Mem.	Honorary Memberships in Foreign or Domestic Academies or Societies with name of Organization and year of election.
AIA Act.	Chapter Offices held with dates; State Organization Offices held with dates; Regional Director with dates; Memberships on and Chairmanships of National AIA Committees and Institute Offices held with dates.

Note: The omission of AIA or FAIA with dates following the name of the Architect on the first line of the biography indicates that he is not a member of the American Institute of Architects.

MISCELLANEOUS ABBREVIATIONS

This is by no means an all-inclusive list of abbreviations, but since many others are self-evident such as names of foreign countries, it will serve, we trust, to identify words except in very unusual cases.
